"Ballardvale."

It was on a bright September day,
The wind was rustling 'mong the trees,
The sparkling "Shaw's" smiling lay,
Its bosom filled with every breeze
And the rural scene so fair,
The waning summer cast her spell
O'er many a dear spot slumbering there
Around the skirts of Ballardvale.

And there, 'mong leaves of emerald green,
I saw red rowanberries hang,
My grateful heart drank in the scene,
My glad eyes gazed on them long.
The scarlet clusters on me smiled
And seemed to tell some dear old tale,
Of happy memories when a child
I had been in Ballardvale.

My day dream led me far away,
I heard shrill, happy voices ring,
I saw the children at their play,
Ah me! How close those memories cling.
Bedecked with rowanberry chains,
They laughed and scampered in the dale,
Across the sea, those glad, sweet strains
Thrilled through my heart, at Ballardvale.

But fare ye well, dear rowan tree,
Ye glowing clusters, fare ye well,
A gleam of joy that brought to me,
Pure joy, of which I love to tell,
Should I no more thy beauty see,
Or hear thy boughs sing to the gale,
Still fondly I'll remember thee,
Sweet rowan tree of Ballardvale.

BASEBALL

Ballardvale 6, Brookside 5.

For the second time this season Ballardvale defeated the strong Brookside of Lowell on the Plains, Saturday afternoon by a score of 6 to 5. The game was close and exciting throughout. The main feature of the game was the remarkable pitching of Drisko, who was invincible after the third inning, shutting out his opponents during the remaining six innings, allowing them but one hit. It was by all odds the finest pitching seen on the Plains this season. Both teams fielded well. This game was Ballardvale's sixteenth victory of the season.

OWES HIS LIFE TO A NEIGHBOR'S KINDNESS.

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. V., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea; was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any, relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than twenty-four hours. For sale by E. M. & W. A. Allen.

THE BIG OCTOBER EXPOSITION

Merchants and Manufacturers Fair in Mechanics' Building will reveal a Spectacular Series of World Wonders

Monday, Oct. 5, the date of the opening of the 2nd Triennial Exposition of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association in Mechanics' Building, will signify the inauguration of a new era of industrial, educational and amusement enterprises in Boston. Never before have the arrangements for a fair in New England been made on such an elaborate and expensive scale and never before have the number of exhibits guaranteed to be numerous, the entertainments so lavish, or the number of people engaged so many as for the present undertaking. Not only is New England well represented but the whole United States. The exhibits comprehend everything from the smallest, if not the most insignificant mechanical device or mercantile commodity, to the largest and most important inventions, and the most desirable of mercantile products.

To begin with there are the United States Government exhibits on the War and Treasury Departments. These alone are prime educational value for they comprehend a perfect and complete representation of the products of each. The War Department exhibit contains all sorts of war implements and historical data, uniforms and accoutrements of the present and past generations, every one of which is calculated to interest, educate and inspire the beholder. So it is of the Treasury Department exhibit with its bank notes and coins of every character and description, the value of which foots up into the millions. Next to the government exhibits in point of interest, comes Creators and his famous band which will be the chief magnetic attraction during the first three weeks of the Exposition. Then comes the Midway with its Japanese theatre and Tea Garden, its Hindoo Necromancers, Chinese Magicians, Elfins Forest, Philippine Village, Infant Incubators, Jim Key, the world celebrated educated horse, and a hundred and one other interesting and entertaining features.

One more very important and conspicuous attraction is the airships and aerial ascensions which fitly rank as one of the crowning contributions to the Exposition.

The Fair will last four weeks, beginning Monday, Oct. 5, and ending Saturday, Oct. 31.

In many parts of England, and especially in the villages of the Black country, it is quite a common thing for a man to be known so exclusively by a nickname that his real name is forgotten. A gentleman had occasion once to ask a potter for the whereabouts of a certain John Williams.

"John Williams?" repeated the man thoughtfully, knitting his brows. "I have heard tell of it. John Williams—it is familiar. I say, sir," he exclaimed, as if seized by a sudden inspiration, "do he be married?"

"That's so," was the reply.

"And hez three of a family?"

"I believe so."

"Well, sir, I'm John Williams!"—London Globe.

An Obedient Boy.

Merchant—Did you deliver my message to Mr. Smith?

Boy—No, sir; he was out and the office was locked up.

Merchant—Well, why didn't you wait for him, as I told you?

Boy—There was a notice on the door saying, "Return at once," so I came back as quick as I could.

Sparring For an Opening.

Guest (after struggling valiantly but unavailingly for some time with fowl)—Waiter, what kind of a bird is this?

"Canvassback duck, sir."

"No wonder I couldn't do anything with it. Run and get me the scissors."

Shook.

SCHOOL LUNCHEONS.

The children are going to school, and the question of luncheon becomes a serious one. A very, very serious one when the statement of the school officials is taken into consideration, namely, that sluggish brains and physical lethargy in a large proportion of school children have been traced to insufficient and improper food.

To pack up a luncheon which will look appetizing when opened several hours later is an exceedingly difficult task, but one that must be accomplished somehow when the children have some distance to go to school, so that they cannot come home at noon. With reasonable limits, their preferences ought to be consulted, but care must be taken not to over-indulge them with unsubstantial dainties, candy and so forth. Nutrient must be first considered.

Sandwiches are, of course, the staple of a packed lunch, but these need not always be of sliced meat. Variety may be secured by making cheese and egg sandwiches. Dates and nuts can also be used, and the bread may be white, rye and brown, used in rotation. Crisp breakfast rolls are also appetizing, and crackers can be turned to account. In the way of relishes, fresh horseradish and olives are, perhaps, the very best. If the children tire of boiled eggs, try giving them deviled eggs, and then again change the menu by adding meat finely minced, grated cheese, or nuts chopped fine. Sausage, dried beef, and even ham, should be tabooed; the first contains little nutriment, and the last two tend to cause thirst.

Do not allow your children to form the habit of eating pie or rich cake for lunch. The pie eating habit, national though it be, is most pernicious. Pastry so hampers the digestion that mental application for several hours afterward becomes well nigh impossible. Many a test of the matter, if you don't believe it. Eat a large piece of pie and then sit down to write a letter or straighten up the household accounts. You will find that your brain is clogged, and that you are almost overwhelmed with somnolence. Children cannot study their lessons quickly and accurately if thus oppressed.

So do not yield to their pleading for pastry. Give them, instead, a slice of plain loaf, a cake, no crullers or doughnuts; they are as bad as pastry. You may put in the lunch box a dairy cup custard or some preserves or jelly in glass jars. All fruits in season should be included in their turn, and a bar of sweet chocolate is a perfectly wholesome addition.

In packing the lunch, use paraffin paper, if you would have it remain fresh and appetizing. Boys usually like to carry the folding tin box, and this ought to be thoroughly scalded and aired over night. Paper mache boxes are nice, but somewhat apt to acquire a stale odor. For small boys, both the Japanese telescope baskets are nice. It is well to use Japanese napkins entirely, as they not only look pretty, but save laundry work and do not have to be carried home.—From the Advertiser.

NO GIBSON SHOULDERS

Chicago.—The kangaroo walk and the Gibson shoulders are doomed, said Mrs. Lucy Baker, president of the National Dressmakers' Assn., at the third semi-annual convention in the Lexington hotel.

"Cutting waists with sloping shoulders and straight fronts are away with the loose pouch fronts, which set off the kangaroo walk, and also with the square Gibson shoulders of the military girl," she continued. "The coats and waists with long sloping shoulders and broad belts make the figure look smaller," and Mrs. Baker sighed in a satisfied manner, for she is large of girth. She went on: "The French styles are so tight that the bust is made to look small, but American women won't adopt that style. They dress to please the men."

"High heels, peckaboo waists and peroxide hair go together," was a declaration of Mrs. Baker that caused a shiver of horror to run through the 150 rural dressmakers in the hall. Apparently none was guilty of any of the three crimes, for three-fourths of them wore shirt-waists and all wore decorously high collars. Mrs. Baker continued:

"High heels were not made to walk on. They ruin the feet and figure and the persons who wear them are disgusting. Don't let any of your customers wear them."—From the Advertiser.

WHEN WALKER KILLED "CAPTAIN THUNDERBOLT"

The recent appointment of Superintendent Walker to the charge of an important police district in Australia recalls his duel to the death with a famous Australian bushranger and mail robber.

"Thunderbolt," whose real name was Frederick Walker, was killed by the London Chronicle, fired at Walker and he leaped away. Walker returned the fire and pursued.

Both men fired at each other as opportunity offered. The Rocky River confronted the outlaw, but he took one daring leap. His horse was killed by the constable's next shot.

"Are you married?" cried Thunderbolt from the middle of the river.

"Yes," replied Walker.

"Well, remember your family." "Oh, that's all right. Will you come out and surrender?"

"No, I'll die first."

"Then it's you and me for it," said the constable, as he plunged into the river. The duel continued in the water until "Thunderbolt" was mortally wounded. He died next day.

"Thunderbolt's" career probably suggested the stage villain of an Australian play popular some years ago in this country.—Boston Post.

REGGIE VANDERBILT AS A LITERARY MAN.

Reginald C. Vanderbilt spent the latter part of the summer at Sandy Point farm, a beautiful house at Portsmouth, R. I., and in this retirement the young man read a good deal and wrote a little, for his tastes are literary to a marked degree.

At Harvard Mr. Vanderbilt contributed occasionally to the college periodicals, and in literary discussions his remarks were often interesting and illuminating.

One day at a Harvard dinner he condemned bitterly the verses of a poet of considerable repute.

"Words, words, words," he said. "High sounding words, and no thought, no truth behind them. Whenever I read this man's writings I think of the literary chat that Dr. Johnson and a thin butcher had together."

"The thin butcher quoted to Dr. Johnson the line, 'Who rules o'er freemen should himself be free.' He said he thought that line was fine poetry. Do you agree with me?" he asked.

"No I don't," said Dr. Johnson, "for the line means nothing. It is mere words. Then he looked at the weakened little butcher, chuckled and went on: 'It is no more sensible than would be the line, 'Who slays a fat oxen should himself be fat.'—Sunday Post.

HINTS ON NURSING.

Choose a bright, large and cheerful room, and one with a fireplace, but have very little furniture and very few ornaments. The air the patient breathes should be very pure. An open window and a fire are the best means of ventilation. Keep the room scrupulously clean. Use a damp duster.

Avoid all noise, but there should be no whispering. In extreme cases pieces of coal should be wrapped in paper and a wooden poker used.

Many say flowers should be kept away from sickrooms, lest they exhaust the air. That is the case with some flowers, as lilies and lilacs, but a few roses or violets will prove to be reviving to weary eyes and depressed spirits. The nurse should never stand at the head of the bed, but where she can easily be seen. The nurse must have great patience, and be firm in carrying out the doctor's orders. She should be tidy in appearance. She should never argue with the patient.

If the patient desires reading, or if reading aloud is not trying to the nerves, it should be done slowly. Never hurry or raise the voice unduly.

It is good for a patient to be washed, as the skin has work to do and must be kept in working order. Washing allays thirst lessens fever, soothes the nerves and induces sleep.

Medicine should be given punctually. Always shake the bottle. Read the label. Always give it in a clean glass.

If no special orders are given, poultices are made of linseed. Warm a basin and knife, pour in basin water quite boiling, sprinkle in meal with the left hand, stirring briskly with knife in right. When the mixture is thick enough, turn on to a piece of flannel and spread evenly. Change every few hours. Hot oil applied on flannel is safer as a home remedy than hot poultices. Saturate a piece of old flannel with oil, heat it and apply over chest, covered with wadding.—From the Advertiser.

A CHARACTERISTIC ANECDOTE OF JUSTICE SHAW.

Chief Justice Shaw, though very rough in his manner, was exceedingly considerate of the rights of poor and friendless persons. Sometimes persons acquainted with the ways of the world would desire to mislead their arguments or would in some way interrupt the business of the court. The chief justice commonly treated them with great consideration. One amusing incident happened quite late in his life.

A rather dissipated lawyer who had a case approaching on the docket one day told his office boy to "Go over to the Supreme Court and see what in hell they are doing." The court was hearing a very important case, in which Mr. Choate was on one side and Mr. Curtis on the other. The bar and the courtroom were crowded with listeners. As Mr. Curtis was in the midst of his argument, the eye of the chief justice caught sight of a young urchin, 10 or 11 years old, with yellow trousers stuffed into his boots and with his cap on one side of his head, gazing intently up at him. He said: "Stop a moment, Mr. Curtis." Mr. Curtis stopped, and there was a profound silence as the audience saw the audacious little fellow standing entirely unconcerned. "What do you want, my boy?" said the chief justice.

"Mr. P. told me to come over here and see what in hell you was up to," was the reply. There was a dive at the unhappy youth by three or four of the deputies in attendance, and a roar of laughter from the audience. The boy was ejected. But the gravity of the old chief justice was not disturbed.

Mrs. Mollie Allen of South Fork, Ky., says she has prevented attacks of cholera morbus by taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when she felt an attack coming on. Such attacks are usually caused by indigestion and these Tablets are just what is needed to cleanse the stomach and ward off the approaching attack. Attacks of bilious colic may be prevented in the same way. For sale by E. M. & W. A. Allen.

MARK TWAIN AS A RIVER PILOT

"Once when I was a Mississippi pilot," said Mark Twain, "I got out of work. This was through no fault of my own, of course. But all the same I had to hustle about and look for a new job."

I talked to a number of captains but none of them wanted a pilot. Finally, though, I met a short, thick-set man who said there was a vacancy on his boat that I might fill if I could qualify.

"He put me through a course of questions. He asked me about my habits, my religion, my birth, my schooling and so on. Then he said: 'Now for the main thing. Do you know where the snags in the river are?'"

"No, captain," I said. "I don't."

"He swore. Wants to be a pilot," he muttered, "and don't know where the snags are."

"I know where they're not," said I. But my smartness cost me the job."

"I see that a funny minstrel performer insists that minstrelsy isn't dead."

"Then why do all the minstrel performers wear black?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Caucus.

The joint caucus bill which has been given its first trial in Boston seems to have received a very general approval. It has of course not been universally endorsed and it is not strange that some defects have been found in it, but all in all the first trial is quite satisfactory. The voters throughout the state aside from Boston are to vote upon the question of its adoption at the coming state election, and that a full understanding of the subject may be had by Andover voters, we shall publish the text of the law in next week's Townsman. Meanwhile there are certain features of the working of the law in Boston that should be considered very carefully by voters in towns like Andover. For instance, a noted lawyer in Boston declined to vote if he should be obliged to have his name listed as a partizan; How would this work in a town like Andover where many men nominally democrats in national affairs, consider they have a right to aid in making republican nominations in state and town affairs? Again a man may vote in a republican caucus for the state election and desire to use a citizen's ticket in a town election, what is his exact standing between these two wishes?

Again the present law demands all of the machinery of precincts, and precinct officers, that the regular election requires, with a corresponding expense. To many such a need does not exist, because of the usual condition that very little interest is felt in the nominations.

The law certainly has many features of merit, and it likewise seems to offer many opportunities for changes which would make it a great deal more satisfactory to towns. It is however a step in the right direction and while the writer had grave doubts about its operations, and still has considerable doubt about its applicability to the ordinary Massachusetts town, it would seem a wise thing for other cities and towns to adopt it, and trust to its workings to suggest the perfecting improvements.

Editorial Cinders.

Speaking of caucuses, it has been interesting to note the attendance round about as indicative of the oft expressed apathy. It has been said that the democrats are alert, but an attendance of less than a dozen would not indicate much more excitement over the coming election on their part than the attendance of three score does on the part of the republicans. The truth is, a contest is all that will ever arouse interest, but the absence of a contest is not by any means a sure sign of lack of interest. There is little to become aroused over in the coming fall campaign, but there was never a greater need of a full vote, and we are inclined to think it will be registered.

The result of the caucuses does not wholly clear up the county treasurer contest, but it seems to show that Mr. Jenkins has at least an even chance for the nomination. The balance of power seems to be held by Mr. Bailey of Newbury, and just where that power will go is problematical. If faithful service should win its reward, Mr. Jenkins will be named; if political dickering gets in control, it will be difficult to forecast the result. The convention comes next Tuesday at Salem.

We doubt if there is a person in Andover who could reach the ninety year mile stone, and receive any greater degree of homage that bears genuine regard with it, than does Mrs. Robert Callahan, who is today welcoming her hosts of friends to her ninetieth birthday anniversary. A purse of gold from her friends is the substantial token, but the good words and cordial esteem, heard on every hand, are richer tokens than any amount of gold could be, in expressing the universal regard of all Andover for this honored lady.

There are some bright spots in the "Home for Aged story" notwithstanding some of the more generally known dark ones, and not the least of the bright ones is the loyal interest of the efficient ladies who are just now preparing for the annual meeting in October. By the way, there could not be a better time for some of the good friends of this project to add to its slowly but surely swelling treasury than just now before the annual stock taking.

If the frost will keep off just a little longer, we are promised a second crop of peaches and all the strawberries we can eat. This week the contributions include sample strawberries from S. T. Wood, the foreman of Col. Ripley's North Andover farm, "currants" from the farm of Geo. C. Foster, and blackberries grown by the printer-farmer. Meanwhile, this freaky summer keeps corn from developing and tomatoes from ripening.

NO POLITICAL CONTESTS

Caucuses to Elect Delegates for Various Conventions but Sparsely Attended.

The caucuses for the election of delegates to the State, Councilor, County, Senatorial, Register of Deeds, Representative conventions and for Town committees were held in the Town hall on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Politics seem to be creating very little excitement in town this year, neither caucus being very largely attended. The Republican caucus on Wednesday drew about 60 voters and the Democratic caucus had its usual small number.

Republican Caucus.

The Republican caucus was called to order at 7.45 o'clock, by John N. Cole, chairman of the Republican Town committee, and the caucus call was read by him. Permanent organization was effected with George H. Poor as chairman and George A. Higgins as clerk.

It was voted that all the delegates be voted for on one ballot. Fred H. Ladd, Herbert S. Stillings and Charles B. Jenkins were appointed by the chairman as tellers.

The result of the ballot was as follows: State convention—William S. Knox, George H. Poor, Peter D. Smith, John N. Cole.

Councilor convention—Arthur Bliss, Harry M. Eames, Barnett Rogers, John W. Tarbox.

County convention—Samuel H. Boutwell, George S. Cole, William A. Allen, N. G. Gleason.

Town committee—John N. Cole, Alexander Lamont, N. G. Gleason, F. S. Boutwell, Allen Simpson.

Democratic Caucus.

On Thursday evening the Democratic caucus was held in the lower town hall, with the usual scant attendance. At a quarter before eight William J. Crowley, chairman of the Democratic Town committee, called the meeting to order and the caucus call was read. Permanent organization was effected with Mr. Crowley as chairman and Timothy J. Cullinane as secretary. The names listed by the Town committee as delegates to the several conventions were balloted for and adopted, 10 votes being cast. Following is the result:

The following delegates were nominated to the several conventions:

State—E. E. Trefry, Joseph Higgins, W. H. Welch, J. S. Stark.

County—M. T. Welch, P. J. Dwan, W. J. Burns, J. E. Hurley, W. J. Doherty, P. J. Hannon.

Councilor—Daniel A. Collins, Martin McKeon, Owen F. Caffrey, Richard Sherry, Daniel Hilton, J. J. Daley.

Register of Deeds—Michael Winters, James Callahan, John S. Barrett, T. J. Maloney, J. E. Donovan, W. J. Haggerty.

Senatorial—Martin Doherty, John McDonald, William McDonald, John W. Scott, P. J. Scott, Patrick Barrett.

Representative—D. J. Moyulian, Claud Miner, M. J. Crowley, T. J. Cullinane, Lawrence Hannon, Joseph Maroney.

The democratic town committee for 1904 was elected as follows: W. C. Crowley, J. J. Daley, John McDonald, D. J. Moyulian, Martin McKeon.

Just One Mean Thing.

Yes just one mean thing, but if anyone could know of a meaner, it would surely take a page.

Last spring R. F. Holt, the ice man, had a favorite family horse which became lame. Veterinaries and local experts failed to find the trouble and the condition of the horse became almost pitiable. One of Mr. Holt's daughters began to work over the horse in the hope that bathing and bandaging might help the trouble, but no improvement came until one day a discovery was made that cleared the whole trouble. Around the horse's ankle somebody had fastened a fine copper wire which for all the long months had been making untold agony for the poor dumb animal, and bringing anxiety to its owner.

What punishment should be meted out to the person who would commit such an act as this is hard to say but certainly it makes one almost wish that the miscreant might at least go to the Turkish war as a starter in getting his deserts.

A REMARKABLE RECORD

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by E. M. & W. A. Allen.

Wedding.

SOUTAR—POLAND.

A very pretty home wedding occurred at the home of the bride on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, when Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Poland and James Creighton Soutar, son of James Soutar of Mineral street, were united in the sacred bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed in the parlor beneath a horse shoe of leaves and ribbons, by Rev. F. R. Shipman of the South church, the ring service being used. Miss Helen Poland, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, while Joseph Soutar, brother of the groom officiated as best man. The room was tastefully decorated by Florist Playdon, with palms, ferns and cut flowers, green being the prevailing color. The bridal party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by William Poland, the bride's youngest brother, who presided at the piano.

The bride looking charming in a gown of white swiss muslin over white silk, and the bridesmaid wore a dress of green silk muslin.

After the ceremony the guests assembled in the banquet hall on the second floor where a bountiful supper was served by Caterer Lane of Lawrence. This hall was handsomely decorated with white and green bunting and streamers interwoven with beautiful autumn leaves. The happy couple were the recipients of many useful and ornamental presents.

M. BURNS . . . 203 ESSEX ST.

The beautiful Globe theatre, at Washington and Beach streets, Boston, which was formally opened to the public last Monday night, already has proved a very attractive addition to the city's playhouses. The Globe, finished in old rose and soft green throughout, is a model of theatrical architecture, while the drop curtain and proscenium arch, are declared to be the handsomest in the country. The Globe appears to be destined to become as famous as was the old Globe, which was burned some ten years ago. It has taken its rank with the most fashionable of theatres, the opening Monday being attended by Gov. Bates and his staff, and all the prominent society persons of Boston. James K. Hackett, who with his company is playing an engagement which must end two weeks hence, has scored a very solid success with his new play, "John Ermine, of the Yellowstone," written by Louis Evan Shipman from the novel of that name by Frederic Remington, the noted artist and writer. The very novelty of the play has appealed strongly to the public, and despite the unusually warm weather, the house has been filled at every performance. Among coming engagements at the Globe may be mentioned Miss Henrietta Crossman, as Rosalind in "As You Like It," Charles Richman in a new play called "Captain Barrington," Miss Isabel Irving, Miss Christie MacDonald, granddaughter of Joseph Jefferson, in "An English Daisy," William Collier and others.

A LIGHT VOTE IN THE CAUCUSES

The vote in the Republican state caucuses were very light all over the city. There were no contests to arouse interest. The total number of votes cast was 469.

The only contest was for the delegates to the county convention. Names of delegates favorable to E. Kendall Jenkins for county treasurer and Benjamin C. Ames for register of probate appeared on the ballot and the Ames delegation won out in every ward except ward six where Jenkins was successful. Ames secured 22 delegates and Jenkins six.

The vote stood 232 for Ames; 109 for Jenkins. The vote by wards was as follows:

MATRIMONIAL

PATERSON-WALKER.

One of the prettiest and most stylish events of the season took place Wednesday, when the wedding of Miss Ethel Walker and Andrew C. Paterson was solemnized at the Second Baptist church, Rev. Chas. C. Earle, pastor of the church officiating at 4 o'clock. The bride party entered the church amid the strains of Lohengrin wedding march played by Mr. George Adamson. The bride appeared handsome and attractive in a dress of ivory white crepe de chine over white silk, and trimmed with lace and chiffon. It was cut en traine. The bridesmaid was also handsomely attired in a dress of cream albatros elaborately trimmed with lace and ribbon. The bride and bridesmaid both carried white bouquets. The maid was Miss Emily Paterson, sister of the bridegroom, and William Walker, brother of the bride was best man.

The ushers were Albert Parker, cousin of the bride, and Walter Townsend. The church was beautifully decorated by the young ladies of the church, and there was a large assortment of potted plants and cut flowers.

After the ceremony at the church the bride party returned to the home of the bride, where they received many hearty congratulations from their many relatives and friends who assembled.

A wedding supper was served, and a reception was held in the evening. The happy couple received many handsome and costly gifts. The bride couple left on the 9:40 train on their honeymoon which is to be spent in Newport, R. I., Fall River, and New York.

On their return they will reside in their new home, 21 Durham street. They will be at home after November 1.

There were many relatives and friends present from Taunton, Boston, Somerville, Manchester, N. H., and Salem.

The groom is a very well known and popular young man and has charge of the electric plant at the Lower Pacific mills. The bride is a popular young lady.

St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock was the scene of a brilliant wedding when Elizabeth Verclick Daly became the bride of Lawyer George Edward Kerrigan of Haverhill. It was the most largely attended wedding ever celebrated in that sacred edifice and was the leading social event in the city for some time. Long before the ceremony the church was crowded and scores standing, and many being unable to gain admittance to witness the ceremony. Just at the hour appointed the glorious strains of the wedding march proclaimed the coming of the bride party, which slowly advanced up the main broad aisle, and proceeded to the altar. The ushers, Dr. J. J. Bartley, Mathew Carney, of this city, Hon. W. A. Kelley of Lynn, and Lawyer J. E. Sullivan of Boston, advanced, followed by the bride walking on the arm of her father, John Daly, Sr., and the maid of honor, Miss Catherine Rosemary Daly. At the sanctuary railing they were met by the bridegroom and best man, Dr. J. C. O'Donnell, a leading physician of Haverhill, and classmate at Georgetown, of the bridegroom.

The bride was given away by her father, Rev. Fr. J. M. Corrigan, another classmate of the young man, performed the ceremony making the happy young couple man and wife. The ceremony was most impressive and beautiful in its solemnity and the music of the organist, Miss Nellie Wholley being splendid. During the union prayers, etc., "Perfect Love" was softly sung by Miss Katherine White. The organist played a beautiful prelude, and the bride and groom took their seats inside the altar railing, with several visiting priests and assisted at the nuptial mass which was celebrated by Fr. Corrigan. At the conclusion of mass, the bride party passed out of the church to the waiting carriages, amid the loud cheering, whose happy faces reflected their good wishes. The floral decorations at the church were beautiful and were the work of Florist Wingate.

A reception was then held at the bride's residence on Phillips Hill South Broadway, where about 100 intimate relatives were invited to a delicious wedding repast, served by Caterer Tanner of Haverhill. The various spacious parlors and in fact the entire residence was artistically decorated with foliage, cut flowers, etc. The colors were pink, green and white. Tropical plants and bay trees being effectively arranged as a background for masses of pink and roses. Above all were streamers of smilax and pink, and suspended from the bay window, in the vest drawing room, a rich floral arch of American beauty roses, under which the bride party received their many friends, assisted by the parents and sisters of the bride.

The departure for the wedding tour was a most joyous one the happy pair departing amid a shower of rice and good wishes. The trip will include Baltimore and Washington and a short stay at the Daly cottage at Atlantic City.

On their return they will take up their residence on Fourteenth ave. in Haverhill in a beautiful new home.

SUICIDE OF A WELL-KNOWN MAN

A telephone message was received in this city Wednesday morning stating that Simeon Ackroyd, formerly of the firm of Brown & Ackroyd of this city, had committed suicide in Brooklyn, N. Y., and that his body was now at the Brooklyn police station morgue awaiting orders for its disposition.

The message gave no details of the affair, but it is supposed that the rash deed was committed in a hotel. No reason is given, but the fact that Mr. Ackroyd had recently suffered financial reverses, would seem to indicate that despondency was the cause.

Mr. Ackroyd had lived in Malden since his removal from this city about three years ago, and his family now resides there.

The deceased was a native of Bradford, England, and was in the vicinity of 40 years of age. Most of his life had been spent in textile industries. He came to this country in the 80's and from December '87 to '89 he was with the Nonantum Worsted Co. of Newton, Mass. In 1889 he left that company and entered the employ of the Washington city as assistant designer. In December 1890 he went into partnership with Joseph C. Brown, under the firm name of Brown and Ackroyd. He remained a member of the firm for 10 years. In 1900 he removed to Malden with his family, and since resided there. He has conducted a variety store in Malden and another in South Boston.

He is survived by a wife and six children who reside in Malden.

ALL BIDS REJECTED.

At a meeting of the ward two school commission Thursday morning it was voted to reject all of the five bids received for the construction of the proposed new grammar school house and to call for new bids on revised plans and a new set of specifications.

The bids were opened by the commission Monday morning, Oct. 5, at 10 a. m. The revised plans and specifications will be ready for the contractors to figure upon by next Monday.

Architect Ashton was instructed to revise his plans and specifications in a way that will reduce the cost of the building as much as possible, without interfering with the stability of the structure. The members of the commission agree that the city cannot afford to spend $119,000 on the new school house and hope to be able to prepare for the building is $50,000, but it will be impossible to construct a six-story building for the amount of the accepted plans. Persons in a position to know say that it will cost from $90,000 to $100,000 to build the school house.

Mr. Lamplrey and Mr. Teckentrup were appointed a sub-committee to consult with the architect in regard to the revision of the plans and the committee were given full power to make such changes as were deemed advisable.

DR. HOWARD'S LEG AMPUTATED.

Dr. George C. Howard, one of Lawrence's oldest and best known physicians, who has been suffering from embolism for several weeks, underwent an operation at the Elliott hospital, Boston, Tuesday morning, whereby his right leg was amputated above the knee. The operation was performed by Dr. Mixer and was successful, the patient rallying from the shock splendidly.

The doctor has been in feeble health for some time and after embolism had developed he went to the hospital in Boston, where after a consultation of eminent physicians, amputation was determined upon as the only relief.

Dr. George B. Sargent of this city was present during the operation. It is now believed that the doctor will recover.

VISITED BY SISTERS.

ROME.—The three sisters of Pope Pius X., who lived with him in Venice, arrived in Rome recently after a separation of about six weeks. A special carriage was provided for them by the railroad company, so that they traveled in much comfort, and were freed from what they had been accustomed to in the past. They were received immediately by Pius, and the reunion was most touching.

The sisters tried to kneel, but were prevented from doing so by their brother, who took them in his arms and embraced them. One sister, in a tone of naive disappointment, said: "How well you look, brother. You have not needed us, after all."

The pontiff replied: "I am always your Beppi, but I am doing very well here."

An hour was spent in exchanging reminiscences and making plans for the future. The three sisters are now staying in a convent until an apartment which is being prepared at the San Angelo Bridge, is ready for them.

STRONGEST EVIDENCE OF FAITH

E. M. & W. A. Allen Guarantee that Hyomei Will Cure the Worst Case of Catarrh in Andover.

When one of the most reputable concerns in Andover guarantees that a medicine will effect a cure or that it will refund the money, it speaks volumes as to the merits of that remedy. It is in this way that E. M. & W. A. Allen are selling Hyomei, the treatment that has made so many cures of both acute and chronic catarrh in Andover and vicinity.

Hyomei is not a pill nor is it a liquid that has to be taken with a tablespoon or wineglass. Just breathe it by the aid of an inhaler that comes in every outfit and benefit will be seen from the first treatment.

It destroys all germ life in the air passages and lungs and enriches and purifies the blood with additional ozone. It cures catarrh of the head and throat, or of the stomach, liver and kidneys. Wherever mucous membrane contains catarrhal germs, there Hyomei will do its work of healing. When using this treatment, the air you breathe will be found like that on the mountains high above the level, where grow balsamic trees and plants which make the air pure by giving off volatile antiseptic fragrance that is healing to the respiratory organs.

A complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, and includes an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks' treatment.

Remember that if Hyomei does not cure you, E. M. & W. A. Allen will refund your money. This is a good time to cure catarrh by the natural method and prevent catarrhal colds that are so common at this season.

A Large Order.
Probably the largest order ever given for paint in the State of North Carolina, was received by the Odell Hardware Co., of Greensboro, N. C., from W. A. Irwin, Esq., of Durham.

The order was for 5,000 gallons of Devco lead-and-zinc paint, to be used on the large Irwin Mills and their cottages now being built in Hartnett county. Many of the leading paint manufacturers were eager to secure this order, and it speaks volumes that the preference was given to Devco lead-and-zinc, which is undoubtedly the foremost paint in this country today.

Entertainers Supreme.

At the meeting of the Trustees of the Pilgrim Fathers on Monday evening, at the close of the regular business, Company A of the Merrimack system gave its last program of entertainment. HAS RECEIVED A PROMOTION.

Leslie H. Brown of this town residing on Maple avenue will leave on Thursday for Lynn where he is to take charge as chief engineer of the large power house of the Boston and Northern Street Railway company in that city. He has for some years been in charge of the Merrimack street power station in Lawrence, a position which he has held with credit.

His ability is recognized by this promotion to the Lynn station. His place at the local station will be taken by Engineer Burnham of Haverhill who was recently in charge nights at the station. The best wishes of many friends for success go with Mr. Brown.

THE CANDIDATES FOR THE BLUE STOCKING FOOTBALL TEAM.

The candidates for the Blue Stocking football team were out for light practice on Tuesday evening. Capt. Johnson is very much pleased over this preliminary showing. The next practice will be held on Tuesday evening of next week when the men will don their tops and be prepared to go in for heavy work. There are men enough out at this early date to put into two elevens and this will probably be done principally for practice work. The team this year will be with but few changes the same as that of last season. Substitute men will be more numerous and will be given a fair chance to make the team. Capt. Johnson will take his old place at center with Hosmer and Mosser as guards while Curtis and Coppinger will be the tackles. Smith and Hargraves will be on the ends while John Fenton will be another good man for this position. Herbert E. McQuestion, last year's captain will take his old position at quarter and will be substituted in this position by Edward E. Curley who is expected to come on later on. Curley is a good man having played on the famous Johnson High school eleven and upon the old Red Stocking team. The backs will be Clements at full and Geaney and Kelley as the halves. Townes will be out for guard. Rand will be a good man at quarter and at end. Walker will make a good sub at tackle while there are other men in the field who have not been assigned to any particular position but who are expected to make good.
